Work on Spring Creek Pkwy. is on schedule for a fall opening. Austin Paving Co. is now installing sewer pipe under the thoroughfare which is needed to serve the Multi-Purpose Complex. The seven-month project also includes paving Alma Rd.

from Parker Rd. to a point north of Spring Creek Pkwy. The streets will be six-lanes, divided. (Staff photo by Mike Newman).

Ladybird Campaigns

LURAY, Va. (UPI) — Ladybird Johnson Thursday went underground to get votes for her son-in-law Charles S. Robb in his bid for the state Democratic party's nomination for lieutenant governor, in this northwestern Virginia town known for its natural caverns.

Mrs. Johnson and her daughter, Robb's wife Lynda, attended a fund-raising luncheon at the Luray Caverns and Coach Restaurant and afterwards made a brief tour of the caverns.

More than 75 people crowded into the restaurant to hear brief remarks by Mrs. Johnson.

Kissinger Guard

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Henry Kissinger is recruiting a private security force to guard him once his Secret Service protection runs out.

A spokesman for the former secretary of state said Thursday various "security experts" were consulted and it was agreed "there is a continuing need for protection for some time to come."

Walter Bothe, 36, a Secret Service agent for 12 years and Kissinger's personal friend, will be the head bodyguard, sources said. Bothe will resign from the Secret Service by May 1 to assume his new job.

Kissinger was granted a 2-4 week extension of official government protection March 31.

Chairman Fabian

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. says onetime rock n' roll singer Fabian will be honorary chairman of his program to have volunteers help in the state's mental facilities.

Brown's office said Fabian Forte, 33, who 18 years ago rose to fame when he cut such records as "Turn Me Loose" and "Like a Tiger," would give a free concert in May for patients at Metropolitan State Hospital in Norwalk.

Garn Marries

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Sen. Jake Garn, R-Utah, marries Kathleen Brewerton Bingham, 27, ex-wife of his administrative assistant, today in Mormon Church services.

Garn, 44, has four children by his first wife, Hazel, killed in an automobile accident last August. Mrs. Bingham obtained a church-sanctioned divorce from her husband, Jeff Bingham, in January 1976. She has one child.

County Delegation Heads For Austin

Collin County Judge Nathan E. White Jr. has announced that a delegation from Collin County, including the Commissioners Court, and city officials from Plano, Richardson, and Garland will be meeting with the State Dept. of Highways and Public Transportation Commission in Austin on Monday, May 2, for the purpose of discussing the matter of right-of-way for the north leg of Loop 9.

Judge White expressed his hope that at the upcoming April 13, meeting at the Plano Municipal Building with the affected property owners, it will be determined that the required percentage of right-of-way will be donated so that the project will begin to move more rapidly.

He further reaffirmed his belief that Loop 9 would be built, and that it would be a significant economic boost and give transportation relief to the south Collin County area.

Light Day Recorded By Police

Plano police answered 77 calls for assistance Wednesday.

Officers also arrested three persons including a 17-year-old for no drivers license, a 22-year-old on a Muenster warrant and a 21-year-old on a Carrollton warrant.

The department investigated seven thefts, one runaway and one report of harassing phone calls.

"There is a large, metal bell, at our national office, which was cast from the shackles and handcuffs that once bound mentally and emotionally disturbed people," said Mrs. Walter Gregg of Plano.

"This bell is now a symbol for the Mental Health Assn., ringing out hope for the mentally ill and victory over mental illness," she added.

During May, Mental Health Month, bellringers will be collecting to help the association continue their work, and Mrs. Gregg is coordinating the campaign in Plano.

The association's logo, used in conjunction with the slogan "Citizens Who Do Make A Difference" stresses strength through unity, while making full allowance for individual differences, Mrs. Gregg pointed out. The logo depicts a group of people standing with hands joined, forming an

FFA Wins Top Honors

Top Prices, Too

Future Farmers of America members from Plano showed 18 of the top 70 animals and received the top prices at the recent annual Collin County Youth Stock Show and Sale in McKinney.

Plano Senior High FFA sponsor Bruce Morris praised the support given the Plano vocational agriculture students by area businesses.

"Numerous people who are in business in Plano or who do business with the Plano schools were on hand to see that our students' animals brought top prices at the sale," Morris said. "In addition to the fine support of the people who were bidding, the Plano Assn. of Independent Insurance Agents supported the youth of the county by contributing $1,000 to build a second barn at the County Youth Park."

Bringing both top honors and top price was the Grand Champion Wether shown by Ed Brown of Vines High School. The First National Bank of Plano purchased the sheep for $8.50 per pound.

Tom Thumb Stores were the most active bidder as a representative of that chain purchased a barrow from Jerry Kerr of Vines for $2.10 a pound, a lamb from Tammy Warrick of Williams High School for $2 a pound, a lamb from Jay Sheen of Williams for $1.75 a pound, a steer from Bill Hornick of Plano Senior High for $1.20 a pound, a lamb from Scott Hilding of Vines for $1.45 a pound and a steer from Ken Herndon of Plano Senior High for $1.70 a pound.

Plano Savings & Loan's office purchased a lamb from Angela Currington of Williams for $2.25 a pound and its McKinney office bought a lamb from Russ Woodward of McKinney High School for $2.10 a pound.

Wells Bros. Farm Store Inc. purchased a barrow from Eric York of Plano Senior High for $1.50 a pound and a lamb from Jonathan Summers of Vines for $1.70 a pound. Bob Willard of Plano Sports Center bought a lamb from Melissa Holland of Plano Senior High for $2.50 a pound.

Plano resident Ted Hornick bid $1.60 a pound for a lamb shown by Brad Long of Plano Senior High, while Meat Producers of Melissa purchased a steer from Marvin Fuller of Plano Senior High for $1.25 a pound, and Bruce Morris of Plano bought a lamb from Ronnie Willard of Vines for $1.90 a pound. A barrow shown by Mike Neal of Vines was sold to Safeway for $1.60 a pound.

Firms doing business with the Plano Independent School District were also active in the purchasing of animals shown by Plano students. Paul Putty of the architectural firm of Jarvis Putty Jarvis purchased a steer from Curtis Fuller of Vines for $1.15 a pound, while Jack Corgan of the architectural firm of Corgan Assoc. Inc. bought a lamb from Randy LaJaunie of Vines for $2 a pound. School financial advisor Frank Medanich of First Southwest Company paid $1.20 a pound for a steer shown by Lance Dobbins.

Plano Man Honored By Alumni Club

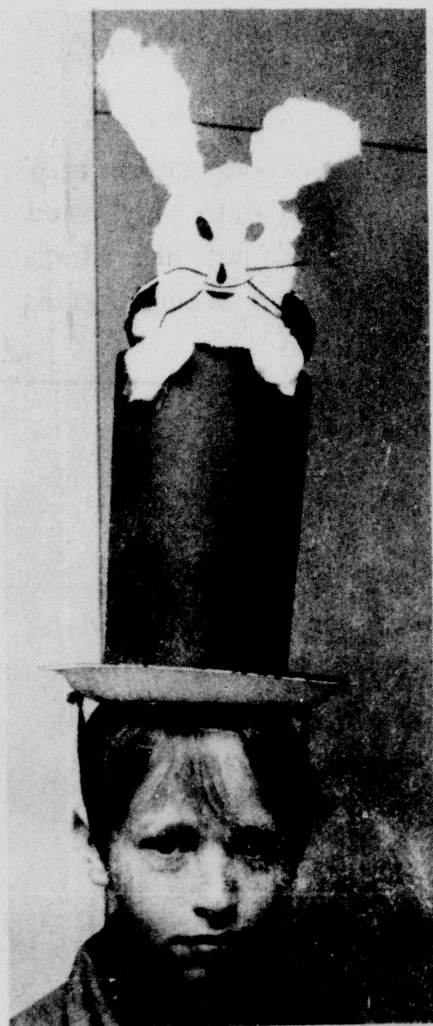

Rufus Gene Scott of 3309 Ridgelande is one of five metro area residents who will be honored Saturday as a distinguished alumnus of East Texas State University by the Dallas Alumni Club of ETSU.

Scott and the other four honorees will receive achievement awards for their work in the metro area, with the awards scheduled to be handed out during the club's annual spring party at the ETSU Metroplex Center. The center is located off LBJ Freeway and Jupiter Rd. at 11325 Pegasus.

Presenting the awards will be All-NFC Defensive End Harvey Martin of the Dallas Cowboys, representing the ETSU Alumni Board of Directors, and university president F. H. McDowell.

Scott graduated from ETSU in 1972 and currently is serving as dean of students at Armstrong Middle School. He is being honored for his work in secondary education and school administration.

Other honorees are Raymond Keith Gardner and Finis Stooksberry, both of Garland; Patricia McCurley Brewster of Mesquite, and Margery Wentworth Petrovich of Dallas. All except Stooksberry are involved in educational fields.

Easter Finery

Easter came a bit early at Davis Elementary School when the students recently took part in a school-wide Easter Bonnet Contest, sponsored by the Student Council. Some of the more striking chapeaus displayed during the contest

Obituaries

JERRY WILLIAM ALLEN
Memorial services are scheduled Saturday, April, at 10 a.m. for a six-month resident of Plano, Jerry William Allen, 47. Services will be at Harrington-Bratcher-Dickey Chapel and will be conducted by Charles E. Fry.
Allen was the logistics manager at Rockwall International, and was also active in a number of amateur radio associations, along with being at 32nd Degree Mason.
The son of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey J. Allen of Baton Rouge, La., Allen is survived by his wife, Mrs. Dorothy Allen; four sons, Jerry Allen III, Jonathan Allen, Dallas Patrick Allen, and Charles Aubrey Allen; and two daughters, April Estelle Allen, and Rebecca Jean Allen, all of Plano.
The Allen Family requests contributions be made to the Jerry W. Allen Memorial Fund, in care of First Bank and Trust in Richardson, to be used for amateur radio purposes.

ALBERT LEWIS SARTAIN
Albert Lewis Sartain, 40, a former resident of Plano, died early Thursday in Van Alstyne.
An insurance salesman, Sartain sometimes played country and western music under the name of Al Lewis.
Survivors include his wife "Jo"; two sons, Mark, 17, and Barry, 13, and a daughter, Michelle, 15.
Also his father, Corbett L. Sartain of McKinney, his wife Evilena, and a sister, Terry, who lives with her father; his brother, H.M. Sartain of Rockwall, and two other sisters, Delsie of Celina and Wilma of Oklahoma.
Funeral arrangements are still pending at Fletchers Funeral Home in Van Alstyne.

Allenites Elected For City, School

Dr. Joe Farmer, H.C. Brooks and Mickey Person led the way in balloting for the Allen City Council in the recent election, while Howard Snider and James Kerr won re-election to the school board.
Dr. Farmer, a newcomer to the Allen political scene who stressed the need for more "systematic government" in his campaign, polled 233 votes. Brooks garnered 204 votes and Pierson received 201 to win re-election to their second two-year terms.
Though the top three vote-getters were knotted closely, there was a wide gap between the winners and losers.
Those who tried unsuccessfully to win one of the three council seats were J.M. McClure with 95 votes, Earl Perry with 84 votes, Betty Matthews with 71 votes, Carol Henry with 67 votes and Barry Mervine with 50 votes.
Dr. Farmer, Brooks and Pierson will join Mayor Frank Dugger and council members Eileen Tollett and Charles Chandler on the 6-member governing board.
Leaving the council after 11 years of service will be Bob Lowman, dean of the council members and mayor pro-tem. Lowman did not file for re-election.
Snider received 286 votes and Kerr received 285 votes in the election to fill two three-year terms on the

Officers' Right

Collins Backs Bill

Congressman Jim Collins of the Third Congressional District has announced that he is joining colleagues in sponsoring H.R. 181, a bill to provide for a Law Enforcement Officers' Bill of Rights.
"This Bill of Rights sets out an eight-point program guaranteeing police, sheriffs, bailiffs and correction officers the same civil and political rights that other Americans enjoy," Collins said. "Essentially, law enforcement personnel would have the right to participate in political activities while off duty and out of uniform; they would be guaranteed a series of protections while under investigation or interrogation, or facing punitive action; and they would have the right to bring civil suits against all those who violated their rights under the Bill of Rights."
"In addition," he said, "they would be guaranteed adequate representation on any police complaint review board that might be established, and would be guaranteed the creation of a grievance commission to investigate any allegation of violations of their rights under the bill."
Collins said that since the concept of a Policeman's Bill of Rights was initially introduced in Congress in 1970, it has been gathering support at the state and local level.
"Maryland and California have both passed similar pieces of legislation," Collins said, "and half a dozen cities have done the same. The need for this kind of bill is coming to be recognized around the country," he added.
"Law enforcement officers perform a service to the community that involves putting their life on the line," Collins continued. "The increasing rate of violent crime in our nation makes police work increasingly dangerous and important. If the courts can rule, as they did in a Virginia decision, that a basic bill of rights is necessary to protect the civil rights of prison inmates, surely we are justified in insuring the rights of one of our most necessary and self-sacrificing professions, law enforcement."

Scouts Compete In Rifle Match

Over 200 Scouts and leaders representing 19 troops competed in events at the annual Collin County Rifle Meet, held recently at the Texins Rod and Gun Club.
Competition was in trap shooting and shotgun shooting, small bore rifle, and tug-o-war.
Instruction was given in camp craft, shell reloading, black powder firearm demonstration and safety class, and a benchrest exhibit.
The champion trapshooter was Dion Smith of Troop 221 and overall smallbore champion was Bud Kirst of Troop 285.
First place winners in the small bore division included Mike Deneen, Troop 262, 10 1/2 to 11; Roger Middleton, Troop 288, 12 to 13; Robert Brady, Troop 300, 14 to 15; and Mike Raitt, Troop 291, 16 and up.
The overall high troop in rifle competition was troop 1009, while overall high troop in shotgun was Troop 358. The tug-o-war was won by Troop 221.

NO BETTER
NEW YORK (UPI) — The consumer education program of Cornell University says food prepared in slow cookers is not necessarily nutritionally superior to the same food prepared by other methods. Those who claim slow cookers eliminate loss of nutrients through steam overlook the fact that nutrients never are lost in steam no matter what cooking utensil is used. Steam consists of water vapor alone.

ASTRO-GRAPH Bernice Bede Osol

For Saturday, April 9, 1977

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be extremely wary in commercial situations today. You might find those you're dealing with using tactics contrary to your ethics.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Don't air your present plans in public. Someone who is jealous of you could attempt to undermine your efforts.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Approach ventures requiring a cash outlay with extreme caution today. Don't jump into anything where you feel a complete disclosure hasn't been made.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You lack confidence in your judgment today. To please someone who is acting selfishly you may adopt a less worthy decision.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Make sure you have competent associates today. If a costly mistake is made, some of the expense will fall upon you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You're friendly and accommodating today. This could make you a mark for connivers who might try to stick you with some bad merchandise.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) An opportunity for gain might present itself today, but you'd have to compromise your ideals. You won't live comfortably with your prize.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're a bright thinker today, but don't zero-in on get-rich-quick schemes. At money-making, you're a dud.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be content with small gains today. If you push yourself past a certain point, you could jeopardize what you could have gained.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Seek the companionship of those who have no axes to grind today. Persons with too much ambition may only try to use you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you have something important to do today, accomplish it quickly, quietly and alone. Partners would only be a drag.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Speak favorably of friends who are not present today, even though others are demeaning them. Silence would later number you among the detractors.

Careful ironing rids rug of wax

By Polly Cramer

DEAR POLLY — How can I remove wax that ran over on to my pale green plush rug? I tried ice cubes but they did not work. I would appreciate any help. — O.P.

DEAR O.P. — Gently scrape off the excess wax with a dull knife, then place a clean white blotter over the stain and place a hot iron on it. Be careful that the iron does not touch the rug. Keep moving the blotter so there is always a clean area over the stain. Follow with a dry cleaning fluid. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with the check-out aisle in so many super-markets. I find it almost impossible to get my cart through due to the candy, gum and magazines that are placed so close at one side. — MRS. N.M.

DEAR POLLY — Whenever mending underwear, socks or whatever cut a piece of gauze bandage the necessary size for the spot to be mended, tack it on lightly with a single thread and have a good base to start the mending job. — UNA.

DEAR POLLY — This is to answer the lady who wants to keep neighborhood cats away from her yard. Make some holes in the top of a soda bottle with a screw-on top. Put some ammonia in the bottle, put top back on tightly and then sprinkle the rocks. Repeat when the cats start to come back again, as well as after every rain. It works for dogs, too. — MILDRED.

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is for those who may be putting down self-sticking floor tiles. We have just put them down in our bathroom and kitchen and would like to pass on some information that we learned for ourselves.

We had cleaned the floors and had them ready for laying the tiles the next day but neglected to read over the instructions until the next morning when we were ready to start work. We noted that the tiles were to be kept at 65 degrees for 12 hours previous to installation and since our thermostat is set at 55 degrees during the night the tiles were too brittle to install without breaking. Instead of waiting all day for the tiles to warm up we took them out of the box and laid them down, two at a time, on the sheet on our bed. Then we turned on the electric blanket to "High" and covered the tiles. In a very short time they were pliable and ready to be laid. Ours were the self-adhesive, peel-the-back-off tiles that come about 45 to the box. We thought this a great idea. — DIANNE.

Polly will send you one of her "peachy" thank-you cards, ideal for framing or placing in your family scrapbook, if she uses your favorite Pointer, Peeve or Problem in her column. Write Polly's Pointers in care of this newspaper.

Mulches Discussed

BY NEIL SPERRY
Landscape Horticulturist

Mulches are the ideal investment. They pay off in several directions. If you're a flower or vegetable gardener, reading the next several lines can save your valuable money and more valuable time.

First, what is a mulch? Simply put a mulch is a barrier. It's a layer of insulation. It may be compost or leaf mold, shredded bark, dried grass clippings, black polyethylene plastic or even overlapped newspapers. Mulches are placed on top of bare ground, generally not incorporated into it.

Next, what does a mulch do? Up north, gardeners use them to lessen the chance their plants will freeze out in winter. Mulches reduce the rate of freezing and thawing (that's what does the damage). Nature often adds her own personal mulch, in the form of blankets of snow.

We southern gardeners, however, are more concerned with summertime matters, like conserving moisture. Mulches keep soil-air contact down to a minimum, so evaporation is greatly reduced. They also keep soil from packing tightly from beating rainfall and watering.

Mulches also slow flow of water, just as turf does on a hillside. More water soaks in, less runs to the street. Less erosion, too, if that's a concern.

Then there are weeds. Mulches are great natural repellents. The black polyethylene plastic, properly overlapped, keeps almost all weeds from growing. Thick (three to four inches) layers of compost or bark make it more difficult for seeds ever to start. Even newspapers, laid overlapping and three or four sheets thick, will retard weeds. Used in conjunction with a soil sterilant such as Vapam (prior to planting), mulches can result in nearly weed-free gardens.

Mulches also protect fruit, especially tomatoes, squash, melons, cukes and those others that grow close to the ground. Many insects, and especially diseases, inhabit the soil. Keeping fruit up off the ground helps keep the problems from getting a toehold. Mulches also keep leafy crops (lettuce, greens, etc.) cleaner.

Rapid Grower

"Showgirl" is one of the new generation of geraniums that grow quickly and easily from seeds. More compact and early blooming than other seed-grown rose pink geraniums, "Showgirl" flowers two to three weeks earlier than competitive varieties on plants about six inches short. The dwarf plants branch heavily from the base to produce dense growth and numerous ball-like flower heads. Bright rose pink flowers contrast tastefully with bright green leaves. (Non-Staff)

Lawn Show Slated

Help your lawn join the "Green Scene" this spring! You'll know how to help after you attend a "Homeowners' Lawn Equipment Show" at the Texas A&M University Research & Extension Center on Coit Rd., Friday and Saturday, April 15-16, according to Dr. Tom Woodward, District Extension Agent.

In addition to the more than 16 displays of the latest in lawn equipment, a panel of experts will present information on proper establishment of lawns, maintenance methods, and control of weeds, insects and diseases. Woodward pointed out.

Two programs will be given on Friday, from 2 until 3:30 p.m. and from 5:30 until 7 p.m. On Saturday, the programs will be presented from 10:30 a.m. until noon and 2:30 until 4 p.m.

Included on the panel will be Dr. Robert Moon, Dallas County Horticulturist; Dr. James A. McAfee, Extension Area Turfgrass Specialist, and Dr. Richard L. Duple, State Extension Turfgrass Specialist, College Station.

Also, there will be displays of weed, insect and disease control products and others showing the latest in lawn fertilizer materials. Representatives from all of the manufacturers will be on hand to answer questions and present literature.

Exhibits will be open on April 15 from 1:30 until 7 p.m. and on April 16 from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. The two-day program is free and open to the public.

The TAMU-Center is located three miles south of Plano General Hospital on Coit Rd.

Expert Discusses Tomato Growing

BY SAM D. COTNER
Extension Horticulturist

To many Texans gardening means growing tomatoes.

Growing tomatoes in the backyard garden can be a fascinating and rewarding venture or it can be a very frustrating one. A sickly tomato plant which produces few if any fruit certainly doesn't help anyone's gardening spirit.

For homeowners growing tomatoes for the first time, some simple advice might help many of them avoid common pitfalls.

First, homeowners should not grow tomatoes unless they can be placed in an area that receives sunlight for at least six hours a day. Tomato plants placed between tall shrubs, under trees or between buildings simply won't produce a good tomato crop.

Second, good soil is essential for good growth and high yields. Often, poor soil can be improved with liberal amounts of organic matter and by proper fertilization. A dark, heavy clay or even a fine sand can be improved by working three to four inches of organic matter into the soil where the tomatoes are to be planted. If only a few tomato plants are to be grown, a space at least two feet square should be prepared for each plant. The soil should be worked to a depth of at least 12 inches. Liberal amounts of organic matter and a small amount of fertilizer such as 10-20-10 or 12-24-12 should be mixed into the soil where the plant is to be grown.

Variety selection is of utmost importance and is one of the keys to growing tomatoes successfully. Select varieties that resist many of the common diseases. Better Boy, Fantastic, Spring Giant, Homestead, Big Set, Porter, Terrific or the small-fruited Small Fry are excellent for most areas of Texas.

Plants can be grown at home or purchased at local retail outlets. When buying plants, the homeowner should check closely for suspicious spots on the leaves which could be one of the many foliage diseases that are common to tomatoes. Short, stocky, dark green plants are best.

When the transplants are set in the garden, they should be planted somewhat deeper than they were originally growing. Plants grown in peat pots or peat blocks should not be removed, but rather the entire container planted. Sometimes it is helpful to break out the bottom of the pot, but avoid damaging any of the roots.

When setting tomato plants in the garden, use a starter solution to assure adequate fertility during the early stages of growth. Starter solutions can be purchased at local garden centers, or can be made by mixing one to two level tablespoons of a complete garden fertilizer in a gallon of water. About one cup of the starter solution should be applied in the transplant hole prior to planting.

For the best results, the transplants should be set in the garden on cloudy days or late in the afternoon. The plants should be protected from adverse conditions such as high winds or excessive heat for a week or so after transplanting.

Almost all tomato varieties should be staked, trellised or caged for best results. Any method is good if it keeps the fruit off the ground.

Most Aren't True

Ivy Types Viewed

BY NEIL SPERRY
Landscape Horticulturist

A rose is a rose, but the ivies do vary. There's Boston ivy and Swedish ivy, poison ivy and devils ivy. No two are related and none is really true ivy.

English ivy, however, is the genuine article. It's also one of America's most widely recognized and universally grown garden plants. It's one of the finest green coverings for bare earth, fences and walls.

English ivy finds greatest use hereabouts as a ground cover in spots where grass would be tough to maintain. It grows and survives on less light than St. Augustine, so it's a natural substitute under mulberries, oaks, pecans and the other heavy-shade-casting trees. Ivy's tangling roots are great for holding soil on steep slopes. Its no-mow requirements make it perfect for small spots in the landscapes.

Many varieties of the common English ivy (Hedera Helix) are offered locally for sale. Compact forms - Needlepoint, Minima, Maple Leaf and Hahn's Self Branching - are good for compact locations. Variegated and speckled types also can be found. All are propagated readily by cuttings taken just about anytime.

Algerian ivy (Hedera canariensis) is another close relative. Its big claim to fame is its leaves, four and five times the size of its English first cousin. It needs generally more shade, more moisture in summer and less cold in the winter to keep growing happily.

Ivies prosper well in shade or part shade. With care they'll even take sun, though more careful watering will be required.

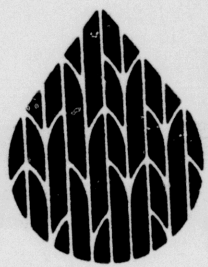

Prepare soil carefully prior to planting. Eliminate weeds as well as you can to lessen future problems. Space small potted plants on 12-18 inch centers. Water and fertilize regularly to encourage complete coverage. Growth may seem slow at the outset, but within 12-18 months the plants should be filled in.

English ivy leaves, triangular in juvenility, become round when allowed to climb and mature. Flowers are produced on mature growth only. They're yellowish-green and not at all showy.

English ivy climbs by means of aerial rootlets up trees and up walls. Unless its branches twine over the tree's canopy, the ivy won't hurt a thing. Similarly it does little damage to sound masonry structure. On wood, though, it may cause damage through increased humidity.

As house plants the ivies need surprisingly bright light. To equal what they'd be getting outdoors keep them near a bright window. They're both attractive and dependable for use in terrariums and hanging baskets.

ASK DOC GARD'NER

by Niel Speery

Dear Doc: Can we assume a pecan tree we planted last year that hasn't yet leafed out is dead? It had no leaves all last season, but even now it's green under the bark. It's gone, I'm sorry to say. That green coloration will often last several months after a plant dies.

Dear Doc: We were intrigued by a newspaper ad for red maples, listing them as fast growing shade trees with beautiful fall color. They were available by mail order from the east coast. Would they really do all that well here?

Red maples (Acer rubrum) are quality trees, highly desirable. However, they are best adapted in the north and east. In our climate they'll grow more slowly and will require closer attention to fertilization and watering.

One suggestion: Whenever possible support Texas nurserymen. Your plants will have been grown under more similar conditions and will recover more quickly.

Dear Doc: What would chew the leaves off our bean plants? It happens at night, yet we see no insects.

Probably snails, slugs or pillbugs, all nocturnal feeders. Treat with sevin (carbaryl) dust to kill off the pests.

Dear Doc: How much damage does a patio slab do to an existing hackberry tree (12 inch diameter) that's four feet away?

Probably none, particularly if 40-50 percent of the ground area under the tree remains uncovered. Slabs retain moisture and overwatering is the most serious concern.

Dear Doc: Is there a quick way to test garden soil? Are the kits any good?

They're alright, provided you can distinguish one muddy shade from another, not always the easiest. Your plants are also pretty good indicators. Light green growth usually signals nitrogen deficiency. Phosphorus shortage causes purplish, stunted growth, while iron deficiency results in yellowed leaves with dark green veins, always on newest growth first.

Dear Doc: We need to replace the grass along our back fence (actually in our alley). It's too hard to mow, edge, fertilize and water. What ground cover would do well with a minimum of attention?

Purple honeysuckle is probably best. It's inexpensive, aggressive and requires little care. Obviously, it will need occasional watering to keep it attractive, especially during the summer.

Write Doc Gard'ner in care of the Daily Star-Courier and watch for a speedy reply!

Live Oak Trees

Experiment Viewed

By ROBERT L. HANEY
TAES Science Writer

A novel method of propagating the widely popular live oak tree without using seeds (acorns) has been developed by horticulturists at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station (TAES).

The new technique permits live oak growers to select trees for uniformity and provide superior trees for the public, says Dr. David L. Morgan, horticulturist with the Experiment Station at Dallas.

Desirable characteristics in live oaks which could be selected and propagated include tree shape, leaf color, leaf retention in winter, increased growth rate, drought tolerance, and possibly insect and disease resistance.

The implications of landscape design with uniform plant materials are readily obvious to growers and landscape horticulturists, Morgan points out. Instead of growing the oaks from seed, cuttings are multiplied from selected trees. This system, called asexual propagation, gives consistently high quality, uniform trees.

The live oak is native to a vast region of Central, South and East Texas and is adaptable to nearly all corners of the State. It's thought to be the number 1 landscape tree in Texas and is widely popular elsewhere in the South.

At present, nurserymen grow the live oak from seed. The problem with this method is that the live oak is wind pollinated, and seed from a beautiful spreading oak may also get half its characteristics from a nearby tree that's weak, diseased, and ugly.

In the past three years, Morgan has successfully propagated native live oaks from tip-stem cuttings.

The cuttings are taken from young, select trees in the spring-summer growing season, treated with a chemical hormone, and kept in a high humidity chamber at the Experiment Station at Dallas.

Cuttings form roots in twelve weeks and when grown should be like the parent tree.

An example of the advantage of this method is the propagation of trees resistant to the mealy-oak gall. These unsightly galls develop on limbs or trunks and as many as 10,000 galls may be attached to a highly susceptible tree.

Caused by a small wasp, the gall is harmless to the tree but is disfiguring.

Such trees, if propagated through stem cuttings, would retain their resistance to galls. And if disease-resistant trees can be found they can be multiplied in the same way.

Morgan and other horticulturists are enthusiastic about this relatively rapid method of improvement of the much beloved live oak.

Checklist Presented

BY NEIL SPERRY
Landscape Horticulturist
April is the best all-around month for planting in North Texas landscapes. Buy quality nursery stock from reputable nurserymen and stick with plants adapted to your environment. Plant St. Augustine sod, bermuda seed or sod from mid-April on.

vegetables, summer annual flowers immediately. Repot crowded houseplants and move them out into shaded sites as soon as night temperatures stay above 50 degrees. Continue planting glads and caladiums. Prune All spring flowering shrubs should be pruned after they bloom. Included are forsythia, spiraea, gardenia, quince, azaleas, climbing roses and floribunda roses. Prune all newly transplanted trees and shrubs to offset roots lost in the move. Thin out competing limbs rather than cutting the plant back generally. Some shaping may be needed for container-grown stock, but generally little. Shape oleagnus, pyracantha, pittosporum, and exleaf ligustrum after their spurt of erratic spring growth.

Keep mums, copper plants and coleus pinched back to encourage branching. Don't cut the tops out of daffodils, other spring flowers. They're busily making, storing food for next year. Let them die gradually.

With the spring season at hand, a few maintenance practices can get your lawn off to a good start. A turfgrass specialist for the Texas Agricultural

Lawn Tips Given

Extension Service suggests three operations for a greener, better looking lawn—scalping, fertilizing and applying a weed killer. "Scalping a lawn serves to revitalize it and promote spring and summer plant growth," points out Dr. Richard Duple.

"Begin the operation by lowering the blade of your lawnmower one-half inch below the normal setting. Then mow the lawn in two directions that are at right angles to each other. Remove the clippings after each mowing."

Duple also recommends keeping the lawnmower blade lowered until mid-summer.

"After scalping the lawn, apply a complete fertilizer (one containing nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium) to promote leaf and root growth," advises the Texas A&M University System specialist. "Use one pound of nitrogen per 1,000 square feet of lawn area. This is equal to 12 pounds of an 8-8-8 fertilizer or 8 pounds of a 12-4-8 fertilizer. Repeat the application in the fall."

For a dark green lawn, Duple suggests applying nitrogen every 60 days at the rate of one pound to 1,000 square feet. Monthly applications of iron chelate or iron sulfate during the spring and summer promote a healthy color in St. Augustine grass lawns.

"To keep crabgrass or other unsightly weeds from appearing, apply a pre-emergence herbicide (weed killer) containing benifin, dacthal or bensulfide early in the spring," says Duple. "Combinations of herbicides with fertilizers are available and convenient to use but should only be used according to instructions on the label. Formulations containing atrazine should not be applied around trees or shrubs," he cautions.

"Proper maintenance is essential for a healthy lawn."

Award Winner

Probably one of the most outstanding hybrid teas ever produced is the Double Delight, a 1977 All-America Rose Selection Award Winner. It has magnificent white and red coloring—sort of as though someone with an airbrush had fired random, but artistic shots of ruby red at a creamy white rose. The blooms are very large, averaging 5½ to 6 inches in most gardens, with 35 to 45 broad, thick petals making up the shapely flower. The flowers are held erect on long, strong stems, and are produced continuously throughout the season. The formal, high-centered blooms have a strong, pleasing fragrance, which resembles a blend of spice and anise. As the blooms age on the bush, more and more red appears until, at the petal dropping stage, the flowers are practically all crimson. The cream-white, long-pointed bud appears to have been dipped in a ruby-red paint. (Non-staff photo).

In Gardening

Planning Essential

BY TED L. FISHER
County Horticulturist

So you want to grow a garden.

Maybe that's because you like to be outdoors, next to the good earth, letting the fertile soil run through your fingers. Maybe because you like the taste of vegetables right off the plant.

Maybe for the satisfaction of having nurtured a beautiful living thing where before there was only bermuda and crab grass. Or maybe because you dropped $100 on your last trip to the supermarket.

In any case, you want to grow a garden.

Where do you start? Not with your hands in your pockets looking at the pretty packets at your local discount department store. That's where all too many would-be tillers of the soil have launched ill-fated affairs with the garden. Do it right. Think. Plan.

First, think about where you are going to put the garden. If you're a beginner with an average size family, you won't need a lot of space. Perhaps a plot 20-by-20 feet, maybe less.

Whatever the size, you need to think in terms of four basic requirements.

First, you need sunlight. All vegetables need some sunlight. Most vegetables must have full sunlight. Unless you're planning for leaf crops like broccoli, collards and spinach, you'll want every ray of sunshine that's available.

So the garden can't be too near the shade of a hedge, shrub or trees in your yard. Not only do these bigger plants compete for shade, but they also gobble up nutrients and water necessary for healthy vegetables.

The second consideration is proximity. Put your plot as near to the back door as possible. Make bringing home the fruits of your labor a pleasant chore.

The out-of-sight, out-of-mind principle applies here. A garden doesn't demand constant care and attention, but it will thrive if you visit it once a day. If you don't check it regularly, insects, disease or lack of water can decimate your little Eden in less than a week. So plan the garden close to the house where watching it won't be a hassle.

Third—the soil. Exact soil type is not that important. Ideally, soil should be fertile and easy to till, with just the right texture—a loose, well-drained loam.

If your backyard dirt doesn't meet these specifications 100 percent, don't panic. You can whip it into shape without breaking your back.

If at all possible, avoid areas infested with Johnson grass and other ugly weeds. Avoid putting your garden on top of a rocky ledge or in a poorly drained area. All of these create difficulties when it comes to gardening.

The fourth consideration for location is water. Put your garden near a spigot. No poor reflection on Mother Nature, but she doesn't always pull out the stops when you need rain. Including rain and the water hose, your garden will need at least one inch of water per week.

Assuming you still want a garden, you're ready for the planning stage.

Step one of the planning stage is selecting what vegetables you want to grow. If you like tomatoes, plan to plant tomatoes. If you like beans, plan to plant beans. With few exceptions, most vegetables will do well in most areas of Texas provided you observe the proper planting times.

You may be limited in your choice of vegetables by lack of space or by unusually poor conditions. If you're undecided about a variety, call your County Extension office and they will be glad to send you the recommended vegetable varieties for you area.

Step two is the tough part, but it is worth it. Make a rough diagram of the garden. Then make a chart. The sooner you get it done, the better. It will help you make deadlines you might otherwise put off until tomorrow, put off until next week or miss altogether. The chart will tell you the kind of vegetables you're going to plant, the distance between rows and plants, amount of fertilizer to use and time of planting. A little planning will go a long way toward making your 1977 garden a big success.

...and lo, I am with you always.
to the close of the age."

After His resurrection, Jesus reappeared to His eleven disciples on a mountain in Galilee. When the disciples saw Him, they worshipped Him, but some doubted that He was Jesus. After all, they had seen Him crucified only a few days before, but Jesus reassured them with these words. "All power is given unto me in heaven and earth." And Jesus gave them this charge—"Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost."

His parting words to His disciples are also a promise to all mankind. "And lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." This is the message of Easter. Attend the church of your choice and celebrate Christ's victory over death.

Rangers Down Birds In 10th

Wills Singles Home Winning Run

By TOM WHITFIELD
UPI Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (UPI) — Frank Lucchesi isn't much for omens, but his Texas Rangers seemed to experience two good ones in a 2-1 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Thursday. Rookie second baseman

Bump Wills, Lucchesi's controversial choice for the job over veteran Lenny Randle, drove home the winning run with his first major league hit, a two-out single in the 10th inning. Pitcher Bert Blyleven, a victim of much hard luck last year during a 13-16 season, went all the way, allowing just six hits. "I got kind of choked up when he got that base hit," said Lucchesi, making his first managerial appearance since Randle beat him up two weeks ago. "You usually go to the pitcher after a ballgame, but I went right to Bump Wills. I was stuck for words. I put my arms around him and couldn't get anything out.

"I got kind of shook up thinking about all this turmoil in the last two weeks."

Wills, the 24-year-old son of former major league shortstop Maury Wills, said he hopes the Randle controversy will die down now that Randle has decided not to appeal the stiff fine and suspension imposed by the club.

"For a while, it was a strain on both of us (himself and Lucchesi)," said Wills. "Now that Frank's back, the team has agreed that it's all behind us. Things don't always turn out for the best, but this was a happy ending."

Blyleven struck out five of the first eight men he faced, then settled down to outduel three-time Cy Young Award winner Jim Palmer.

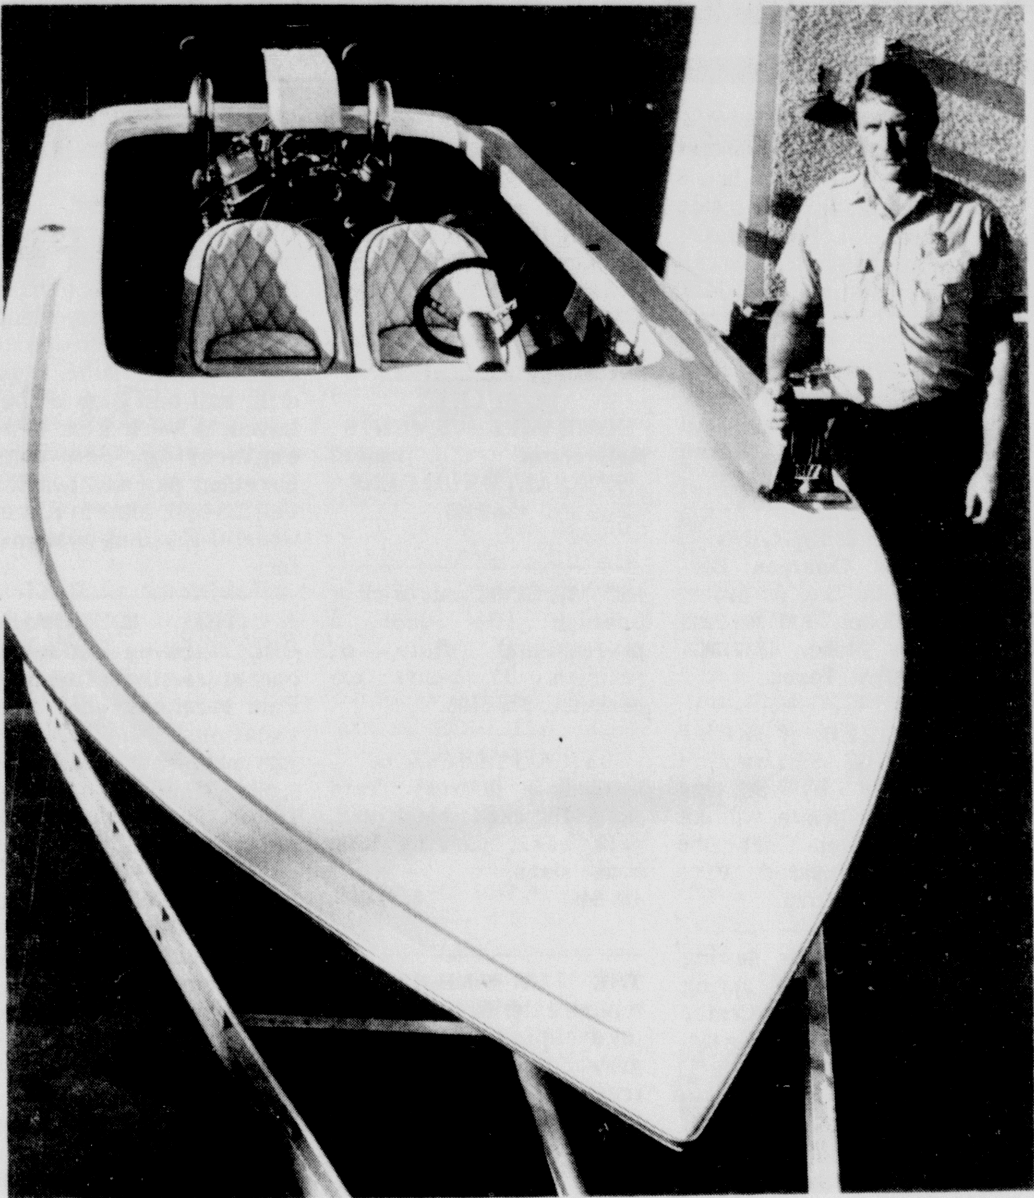

"I had a good year last year, but the won-lost record didn't reflect it," said

Blyleven, who walked three and finished with eight strikeouts. "Today, the curve ball was breaking the way it should. I feel if I go out with that kind of stuff every time I'm not going to lose."

A sacrifice fly by Jim Sundberg gave the Rangers a 1-0 lead in the fifth, but the Orioles tied it in the seventh on a sacrifice fly by Rick Dempsey. A diving catch by rightfielder Dave May shut off an Oriole threat in the eighth.

Baltimore rookie centerfielder Larry Harlow started the winning Texas rally by misplaying Juan Beniquez' liner into a double. "The ball just seemed to move on me at the last moment," explained Harlow, who saw it go over his head.

A groundout to second by Bert Campaneris moved Beniquez to third, setting the stage for Wills' clutch single to center.

Beat Hillcrest, Bryan Adams

'Cat Netters On Top

Plano Senior High's Wildcat tennis team continued their winning ways with dual match wins over Hillcrest and Bryan Adams High Schools.

Tuesday, the Wildcats defeated Hillcrest, 5-3.

In the boy's singles division, Bob Perrine defeated Wilson Chu 6-7, 6-0, 6-1. David Grattafiori lost his match to Scott Mason 6-3, 6-1.

Lisa Cure won her match against Gretchen Uhl 6-1, 6-2 while Patricia Perrine was beaten by Sabrina Wong 6-2, 7-5 in the girls singles.

Hudson Turner and Russell Cantwell teamed up to defeat Charlie Shelby and Robert Vaughn 6-3, 5-7, 6-3. Cliff Fischer and Rick Hansen were downed by Mark Hill and Joey Trizza 6-1, 6-2.

In the girls doubles division, Jill Wiley and Karen Murphy beat Kelly Aldridge and Monik Haching 6-0, 7-6. Debbie Marvin and Beverly Brooks defeated Jana English and Valerie Taylor 6-1, 6-0.

Monday, the Wildcats hosted a dual match with Bryan Adams and came away with a 6-2 victory.

The Bryan Adams girls team is currently Dallas City Champions but Plano's girls won their matches 3-1.

Patricia Perrine beat Luanna Sebhauer 6-1, 6-3, while Cure lost her match to Cindy Hill 6-3, 7-5 in the girls singles division.

Wiley and Murphy downed Pam Powell and Melisa McCoy 6-4, 6-7, 6-4. In the other girls doubles match Marvin and Brooks defeated Linda Resdy and Pat Bishop 6-3, 6-1.

In the boys singles division both Bob Perrine and Grattafiori won their matches. Perrine won his 4-6, 6-1, 6-3 while Grattafiori won 6-3, 6-3.

Turner and Cantwell downed Craig Miser and Craig Frazer 6-2, 6-1. Fischer and Hansen were beat by Ronnie Boruff and Steve McWilliams 6-2, 6-2.

"We've done real well lately," said Coach Ken Summrow. "When the district meet comes we will be one of the stronger teams there."

The 13-AAAA district meet will be held April 15-16 at Plano Senior High School.

"Richardson has to be the favored team in district, but us or any other team can easily win," added Coach Summrow.

Plano's next match is Saturday against Garland in Garland Monday the Wildcats will host Denton in a dual match at the high school.

The Texas-Texas A&M series will bring together the two top hitting teams in the league — the Longhorns owning a .319 team average and the Aggies .308.

Pieczynski (5-1).

Texas' rotation has not been announced, chiefly because one of the Longhorns top starters is lost for the season. Bob Heuck injured the elbow of his throwing arm during the Longhorns' exhibition game this week with the Texas Rangers.

The rest of the conference activity this weekend has TCU (6-11-1 in league action) at Texas Tech (7-8), Rice (5-8) at Houston (8-6-1) and Baylor (6-6) at Arkansas (9-6).

Keep the Dog Away From the Front Door ST. KITTS, West Indies (UPI) — The man shelled a last peanut, rose, forgetting to put on one shoe, raised his umbrella and walked out the front door, noticing as he did that the dog had dug a hole there.

All seemingly innocent actions. But any expert in West Indies superstitions could have forecast that all hell was about to break loose in that man's life.

Superstitions and legends are buried in 350 years of history in St. Kitts and Nevis, her sister island.

Almost everyone in St. Kitts knows that it's very bad luck to open an umbrella in the house, and to shell peanuts inside is to invite poverty to assail the occupants.

If a dog digs a hole under the front door, death is riding on your shoulder, and if a male ever wears one shoe, he's inviting tragedy for his mother.

Sound and Light Planned for Dover DOVER, England (UPI) — Dover Castle, perched on the famous White Cliffs, will be the subject of a special Queen's Silver Jubilee production of Son et Lumiere (sound and light) next summer.

Although the castle was mainly built by the Normans, it has the octagonal Pharos, part of the original Roman fortress and one of the oldest buildings in England.

Mauzy's Stand Viewed

Heads Fight For Finance Reform

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—The outcome of the 1977 Legislature's protracted battle over public school finance will depend largely on the efforts of a lawmaker pushing a longshot proposal for equalizing educational opportunity.

Sen. Oscar P. Mauzy, D-Dallas, once the vanguard of liberals in the legislature, is carrying the liberal standard once again on school finance reform but appears to have lost his fervor on other issues.

Critics contend Mauzy abandoned the liberal cause altogether with his controversial decision to co-sponsor a bill to increase interest rates on small loans.

Mauzy, 50, says he has become more realistic and decided to concentrate more and more of his efforts to pushing school finance reform in the face of seemingly hopeless odds - a sharply different House version of the school finance bill which has the strong backing of Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

Mauzy acknowledges the school issue is frustrating but says he hopes he has matured to the point he understands the problem cannot be cured quickly.

"If you believe in something you ought to be willing to get out here and spend a little sweat and spill a little blood," he says.

Mauzy is pushing a $2 billion school finance bill that would boost teacher salaries $1.2 billion and require richer school districts to raise property taxes $635 million in two years.

The senator's proposal contrasts sharply with Gov. Dolph Briscoe's recommendations and a $692 million bill drawn up by the House Education Committee.

The House bill allocates less money than Mauzy's for equalization aid to benefit poor districts and requires local districts to reduce property taxes $75 million in 1979.

"There may be one (property tax cut), but it's wrong," Mauzy says. "You're just continuing to require the poor to subsidize the rich."

"I know it's politically popular to say no new taxes and to say I'm going to reduce your taxes. It's not a question of trying to be popular. It's a question of what's constitutional and what's right."

Car Wash

Slated By Troop 261

Boy Scout Troop 261, will have a car wash beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday, at the Dallas North Shell Station on the Southwest corner of 15th St. and Central Expressway.

This fund-raising event is to buy equipment for the young troop, which is sponsored by Christ United Methodist Church.

Mauzy is convinced courts eventually will require a revamping of school finances along the lines he proposes to eliminate inequities in the quality of education afforded children in poor and rich districts.

"Eventually a court is going to declare the rights of the people and order this legislature to do what it knows we ought to do without some court laying it over their sore backs," Mauzy says. "I think it's an act of political cowardice for the legislative and executive branch to put those decisions over on the judiciary."

"That's the part that hurts me — that we won't suck up our gut and do what we ought to do."

Education is the paramount legislative issue for Mauzy. "The reason I first ran for the legislature was because I wasn't satisfied with the quality of education being delivered in Texas. That was 10 years ago. We have made some progress. You get frustrated the rate of progress isn't as great as you like. But we started from a long way back."

The importance of education in Mauzy's own life makes his priorities understandable.

Mauzy, 50, grew up in the Depression in an area of grinding poverty in Houston. His father, a railroad switchman, died when he was 5 leaving a widow and eight children.

Mauzy's first job was in a grocery store at age 6. By the time he joined the Navy on his 17th birthday, he had thrown newspapers, delivered telegrams, shined shoes and worked as a helper for a building contractor.

After World War II he attended the University.

Unitarians Set Easter Meal

A gourmet breakfast will be served at 9:30 on Easter morning at the Unitarian-Universalist Fellowship

Service Set At Church On Sunday

Dr. Perry Purtle and the Canyon Creek Baptist Church at 2800 Custer Parkway in Richardson invites all Planoites to be a part of the early sunrise service at 7 a.m. Sunday, in the church gymnasium. The Church Ensemble will be singing and pastor Dr. Purtle will be preaching on "The Proof of The Resurrection." Services will be held at the usual 10 a.m. time, in addition to this Sunrise Service.

North, 2200 Custer Rd. in Plano.

After the breakfast, Dr. Anthony Andueza will speak on personal resurrection.

Dr. Andueza, a Spanish Basque, was educated at the University of Madrid and then spent two years in Ireland, where he was ordained a Catholic priest. He left the priesthood in 1968.

His education in this country includes a B.A. from the University of Dallas, a master's degree from Southern Methodist University, and a doctorate from Georgetown University. He now teaches philosophy at SMU and Eastfield College.

Children of the Fellowship will have a special celebration of Easter outside. Festivities will include an egg-rolling contest.

The Fellowship welcomes visitors and for more information, call 231-8512.

Timely Gift

The Easter bunny paid a visit to Dr. H. Wayne Hendrick, Superintendent of Plano Schools, recently, leaving him with an Easter basket full of goodies. Actually it wasn't the Easter bunny—it was principals from the schools in Plano who gave the basket to Hendrick during a staff meeting. (Staff photo by Mike Newman).

Egg Hunt Slated

The Collin County Breaker 1 C.B. Club will sponsor an Easter Egg Hunt at 2 p.m. Saturday, in Ticky Creek Park, approximately two miles south of Princeton.

It will be for all children of Collin County, age 11 or under chaperoned by their parents or guardian.

There is no charge. The eggs, paper wrapped candy eggs, will be furnished by the club and hidden Saturday morning by members. Prizes will be given to the two who find the most eggs.
